

Flight

Ryan Dickherber

Jan. 23, 2008

I was going for a run this morning and I was so happy that I just had to fly. Of course, a mob emerged and captured me and put my neck in a guillotine. I barely managed to escape with my life.

Perhaps I should try something more conventional than demon wings.